STUDIO & CONTACT INFORMATION

ABOUT DEUXMENSIONS DANCE THEATRE & SCHOOL

Deuxmensions Dance has been offering quality dance instruction in the Southwest Minneapolis area since 2000. As a non-competition dance studio, Deuxmensions strives to nurture the artistry and creativity of dance and the dancer. We provide a supportive, encouraging environment that allows dancers to reach their full potential without the pressure of competing. Deuxmensions takes dance training and physical health seriously. Classes focus on proper technique and body mechanics to build strength and prevent injury, while developing fundamental skills and the technique needed should a dancer decide to go on and pursue a dance career.

ABOUT THE DIRECTOR / TEACHER

Michelle Doyle has been dancing for most of her life, beginning her training at the age of five. In high school, she began teaching and choreographing for the younger dancers at the studio where she grew up, and has been teaching ever since. She graduated from UW - Stevens Point with a BFA in Dance with a double emphasis in ballet and modern. She was also chosen to study at the prestigious Alvin Ailey American Dance Center in NYC, where she spent two years further developing her dance training. Her career has included performing, teaching, and choreographing at various schools and venues throughout the Midwest.
